

A Banking System, Safe for Vampires!

Sir Josiah Stamp, The Director of the Bank of England, AD1927.

'The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astonishing piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented... but if you want to continue to be the slaves of the bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let bankers continue to create money and control credit.'

A vampire goes to his bank, carrying a silver candlestick as collateral, and signs for a $1 loan, at 6% annual compound interest, calculated daily. The vampire then goes home for a quick nap, awakening 550 years later, to discover that he now owes the bank 214 trillion dollars! The bank, of course, considers this debt to be a modest return upon a $1 loan!

The vampire, understandably, is angry, and he turns on his psychic vampire 'cam' so that he can watch how his banker, historically, created his loan. The vampire watches his banker walk into an empty bank vault, containing only a financial mirror, and a piece of paper, a license to create bank credit. The banker places the vampire's candlestick before the mirror, and records the reflection as bank capital, owned by the bank, with the title to the candlestick now transferred to the bank. This freshly created 'bank capital' is now deposited into the vampire's account in the form of the loan. The disbelieving vampire, watching on 'vampire cam', has discovered the answer to the financial question, 'who supplies the capital for our loans, when the world is drowning in debt'? It is the bank's customers, and their collateral!

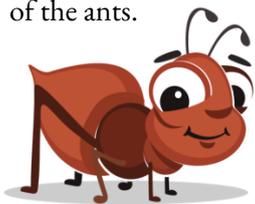

Now the vampire is in rage! He is being asked to pay 214 trillion dollars upon a reflection of his own $1 asset! This was not an ethical bank, this was a pawn shop with a license to create bank credit! In an alternative, asset banking system, the financial reflection in the mirror could have been recorded as an asset owned by the vampire, and loaned interest-free. After all, if the customer has no collateral, then the bank has no 'capital'! The vampire would then only owe the bank, after 550 years, $1! The destiny of the world then depends upon the recording of a financial reflection within a mirror, as either an asset owned by the bank, or as an asset owned by the customer!

The vampire calls his lawyer and begins criminal proceedings against the bank, claiming violations for fraud, odious debt, duress, racketeering, pyramid schemes, and cartel crimes. The vampire even demands three-times cartel penalties to be imposed upon the bank, penalties which would force the bank to pay the vampire 642 trillion dollars! The vampire is pleased with this 'Shakespearean' solution to his debt problem. After all, only 'Shakespearean idiots' will pay compound interest upon reflections of their own assets!

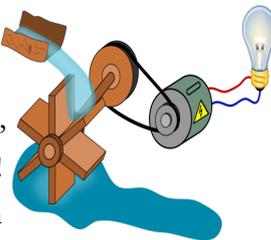

It then occurs to the vampire that there are two million species upon our planet and none of them, apart from vampires and humans, are suffering from the four financial demons, those of debt, interest, taxation, and inflation! To discover the secret of these species, the vampire turns his 'vampire cam' to 'ant whisperer' mode, and listens to the financial secrets of the ants.

The vampire discovers that ants use life-force as their monetary unit, a power given freely from the cosmos. This financial power allows the ants to run their complex communities, free from the criminal operations of debt bankers, and their slave plantations of debt, for debt is the money of slaves!

The vampire, watching on 'vampire cam', concludes that vampires and humans can also use this financial system. Money can be defined as, 'life-force traded within a marketplace'. The measure for money becomes, 'the distance that a typical vampire, or human, walking at the normal speed of 5km/hr, will cover within one hour, that is 5000 metres'. This is a measure of physiology, psyche, time, distance, and the speed of light, as a metre is a measure of the speed of light within a vacuum.

A financial asset lake can now be created within the heart of the nation, a lake comprised from 'droplets of life-force'. In the Australian example, 20 million people, times $A25 an hour, times 40 hours per week, times 50 weeks per year, creates an asset lake of one trillion dollars, a power source which can drive the national economy, free from the four financial demons! The people are now free from the prisons of debt peonage, the people have become their own central bank and the people can now withdraw their own future life-force in the form of interest-free assets.

The government also now has its own authentic monetary supply so there is no need for taxation, and all financial costs within the system can be covered by the waters of the lake. This system is the democratisation of the creation of the monetary supply, and this system avoids the traps of psychopathic greed arising within a privatised, and centralised, monetary supply! Where there is no need for interest, where is the need for the crimes of usury?

This asset monetary system answers five primal monetary questions. What is money? What is the measure for money? Who shall create the monetary supply? Who shall derive the benefits from the streams of interest? And shall we create our monetary supply as assets or debts? This monetary system fulfils Aristotle's five definitions for authentic money, to be portable, durable, divisible, easily recognisable, and intrinsically valuable. This system fulfils the economists' dream for a financial technology which is 100% reserve and operates using the most frugal technological costs. This asset monetary system also throws the debt bankers, the dark exponents of Satanic usury, Aristotle's 'most hated form of wealth creation', into the dustbins of history.

At last, we have fulfilled our human responsibility to pass onto the future generations a monetary system which is free from 'debts unto death', for when money is created as debt, whether it is a personal loan for a vampire over centuries, or loans to an entire nation for a day, the result will always be the same, the betrayal of natural destiny!

We have discovered then that debt banking is primitive, it exists at the technological level of a medieval whale-oil lamp. Asset banking, however, when based upon a monetary unit, measured in life-force, is the technological level of a modern hydro lake, creating financial electricity. It is a financial power which can create an incandescence, within the hearts of both vampires and humans!

We can now create an alternative currency, Quantar Hydro, based upon these monetary principles. Quantar Hydro, or TheQ!, is a name derived from hydro power, light quanta, and 'ant' economics. Quantar uses Cyclos banking software to create a national trading market for goods and services.

Quantar is based upon an $8 annual subscription, and each renewal includes 300 Quantars to 'seed' the Quantar account. The base hourly wage, for an unskilled worker, is assumed to be 10 Quantars per hour, Q10. However, a doctor, or a skilled artisan, can charge multiples of this hourly rate to honour the years which they have invested in their profession.

Now a Mrs Smith can have her lawns mowed by a local student, who can then receive a language lesson from a teacher, who can trade Quantars for a basket of vegetables from the local market. The world is exchanging the treasures of goods and services using a monetary system which does not impose the four financial demons, those of debt, interest, taxation, and inflation! This Quantar system allows us to awaken to the nature of money, to discover that the real treasure in our nation is the life force of the people! This is the monetary 'gold', the honey in the human 'hive'! Welcome then to Quantar, financial hydro power, 'ant economics', and financial freedom!

Historical Banking Quotes

Robert Anderson, Treasury Secretary under Eisenhower

'When a bank makes a loan, it simply adds to the borrower's deposit account in the bank by the amount of the loan. The money is not taken from anyone else's deposits; it was not previously paid in to the bank by anyone. It's new money, created by the bank for the use of the borrower.'

James Madison,
fourth president of the United States.

'History records that the Money Changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance.'

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, first Inaugural Address 1933

'The money changers have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization. We may now restore that temple to the ancient truths. The measure of the restoration lies in the extent to which we apply social values more noble than mere monetary profit.'

Mackenzie King,
Canadian Prime Minister 1935-1948.

'Once a nation parts with the control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes the nation's laws. ... Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile.'

Thomas Jefferson

'The modern theory of the perpetuation of debt has drenched the earth with blood, and crushed its inhabitants under burdens ever accumulating.'

US President John Adams.

Professor Irving Fisher, Yale University, in his book '100% Money'.

'There are two ways to conquer and enslave a nation. One is by the sword. The other is by debt.'

'If two parties, instead of being a bank and an individual, were an individual and an individual, they could not inflate the circulating medium by a loan transaction, for the simple reason that the lender could not lend what he didn't have, as banks can do. Only commercial banks and trust companies can lend money that they manufacture by lending it.'

Henry Ford

'It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning.'

The Bank of England Quarterly Bulletin, 2014.

'Whenever a bank makes a loan, it simultaneously creates a matching deposit in the borrower's bank account, thereby creating new money.'

Ralph Hawtry, former Secretary of the Treasury.

'Banks lend by creating credit. They create the means of payment out of nothing.'

Frederic Bastiat, Political Economist.

'When plunder becomes a way of life for a group of men living together in society, they create for themselves in the course of time a legal system that authorizes it and a moral Code that glorifies it.'

A debt banker, 1863.

‘The few who understand the system will either be so interested in its profits or so dependent upon its favours that there will be no opposition from that class while, on the other hand, the great body of people, mentally incapable of comprehending will bear its burden without complaint.’

A debt banker, 1838.

‘Let me issue and control a nation's money and I care not who writes the laws’.

Thomas Edison.

‘...if the nation can issue a dollar bond then it can issue a dollar bill... it is absurd to say that our country can issue bonds and cannot issue currency. Both are promises to pay, but one fattens the usurer and the other helps the People.’

Ralph M. Hawtry, former Secretary of the Treasury.

‘If all the bank loans were paid up, no one would have a bank deposit, and there would not be a dollar of currency or coin in circulation. This is a staggering thought. We are completely dependent on the commercial banks for our money. Someone has to borrow every dollar we have in circulation, cash or credit. If the banks create ample synthetic money, we are prosperous; if not, we starve. We are absolutely without a permanent money system. When one gets a complete grasp upon the picture, the tragic absurdity of our hopeless position is almost incredible – but there it is. It is the most important subject intelligent persons can investigate and reflect upon. It is so important that our present civilization may collapse unless it is widely understood and the defects remedied very soon.’

Thomas Jefferson

“If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs.”

Andrew Jackson:

“Is there no danger to our liberty and independence in a bank that in its nature has so little to bind it to our country? Is there not cause to tremble for the purity of our elections in peace and for the independence of our country in war? Controlling our currency, receiving our public monies, and holding thousands of our citizens in dependence, it would be more formidable and dangerous than a naval and military power of the enemy.”

John Acton.

‘The issue which has swept down the centuries and which will have to be fought sooner or later is the people versus the banks.’

Abraham Lincoln

The Government should create, issue, and circulate all the currency and credits needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. By the adoption of these principles, the taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity.

John Kenneth Galbraith

'The process by which banks create money is so simple that the mind is repelled.'

Montagu Norman, Governor of The Bank of England, 1924

“When, through process of law, the common people lose their homes, they will become more docile and more easily governed through the strong arm of the government applied by a central power of wealth under leading financiers. These truths are well known among our principal men, who are now engaged in forming an imperialism to govern the world.”

John Lennon

“I think our societies are run by insane people for insane objectives
I think we're being run by maniacs for maniacal ends.
I think they are all insane. But I am liable to be put away as insane for expressing that.
That's what is insane about it. Don't you agree?”

George Carlin

“We know what they want, more for themselves and less for everyone else... and they don't want an educated citizenry... they want obedient workers... people who are just smart enough to run the machines and do the paper work and just dumb enough to passively accept the increasingly shittier jobs with the lower pay, the longer hours, the reduced benefits, the end of overtime, and the vanishing pension that disappears the minute you go to collect it.”

The creation of the monetary supply as debts bearing compound interest fulfills one of the definitions for Satanism!
Perhaps it is time then for us to investigate our nation's monetary supply?
Perhaps it is time for us to awaken from the financial curse of usury, the plague which has destroyed civilisations and the heart of humanity!
In the realms of banking casinos, and financial castles of debt, we can be sure of at least one thing. If our monetary system is not safe for vampires, then it is not safe for us!
And finally, a simple question, 'who owns the debt machine'?
